SIRS Structures the Information Explosion

Thousands of articles are available in print with microfiche included, or on CD-ROM

SIRS, the Social Issues Resources Series, provides thousands of landmark articles structured into 32 social issues, five science disciplines and two critical issues topics. Available are SIRS Social Issues Series, SIRS Science Series and SIRS Critical Issues Series.

Each volume is updated annually, and contains articles reprinted in their entirety, a table of contents and index, a comprehensive index to the entire collection, catalog cards and microfiche (42x) of everything in the volume.

SIRS is one of the most widely used resources in secondary schools, colleges and public libraries.

SIRS CD-ROM contains the same articles published in SIRS, SIRS Science and SIRS Critical Issues volumes for 1989 and 1990. Ninety percent are full-text. When full-text is not available, abstracts are provided for the articles. Features include: bibliographic citations, easy-to-use indexes, help screens and full or partial text print capability.

Three different CD-ROM programs have been developed: 1) SIRS Science CD-ROM is available now; 2) SIRS Social Issues CD-ROM including the Critical Issues Series will be available in May 1991; 3) SIRS Combined CD-ROM including all three series will be available in May 1991.

SIRS CD-ROM runs on IBM and compatible computers and can be used on one-campus local area networks at no additional charge. Demonstration diskette available.
