
That Will be the Day

"The average college alumnus," says Governor Hodges, as an enthusiastic alumnus himself, "gets more excited about a good dribbler than he does about the library. It should not be that way, but I do believe we have to think about both."

It will be a break for libraries when the thought about both is on an equal basis. And that day will come when a popular librarian gets the gift of a blue and white Cadillac with the golden keys. At the moment, however, librarians in our colleges will be glad to settle for the money necessary to buy books to keep their libraries in pace with the advance of other libraries in other colleges in other states.

Editorial in Raleigh News and Observer.